Quantum Constructions
Attention : Daniel Prentice

Reference for Quantum Constructions

PTI worked with Quantum Constructions for some 3 years for the construction and fitout of the Golf House Apartments project in Elizabeth St in Surry Hills.

This is a high-end residential development with luxury interiors by Collette Dinnigan and a highly detailed external façade.

This project was very challenging technically and practically as well as having many more complications being in the City of Sydney and in a very prominent location close to Central Railway.

In addition, the high prices achieved from its Sales and Marketing Programme were such that a very high-quality product was required to be delivered.

Quantum Constructions were excellent across all aspects of their management and the undertaking of the works. At all times they showed their experience and capabilities and had a very team-based approach to their work. The end result, which has been acknowledged and appreciated by many is very much also a credit to them.

We would highly recommend them for any construction project and hope to work with them again in the near future.

Kind regards
